

2013 Kentucky Residential Code Energy Conservation Construction Principles

HOSTED BY: The Kentucky Department of Housing, Buildings and Construction (DHBC) & Department of Energy Development and Independence (DEDI)

INSTRUCTORS: Southface Energy Institute

FOCUS: Understanding the principles behind code requirements and how to quickly apply these code-compliant techniques to your current construction practices

WHO SHOULD ATTEND: Home builders, subcontractors, construction professionals, code officials, and other interested individuals

Upcoming 2016 Classes (each class is $25)

Course	Date	Location	Register
Thermal Envelope – Air Sealing and Insulation Principles	October 17	Bowling Green	http://bit.ly/1Ps3DM0
Common Compliance Challenges: Observations from the Field	October 18	Bowling Green	http://bit.ly/1t717kD
Common Compliance Challenges: Observations from the Field	October 20	Burlington	http://bit.ly/289pAFU
Common Compliance Challenges: Observations from the Field	November 7	Ashland	http://bit.ly/1Z0vCCS
Common Compliance Challenges: Observations from the Field	November 8	Pikeville	http://bit.ly/1MHLZIT
Common Compliance Challenges: Observations from the Field	November 10	London	http://bit.ly/1Mi1Li3

To view the full 2016 schedule, please visit: www.mwalliance.org/kycodetraining

This training program is subsidized with funding from the U.S. Department of Energy. Images are from www.greenbuildingadvisor.com and www.comfortsolutionsnm.com.

